Dear Parents/Carers,

As you know, Cllr Leo Fletcher, the Mayor of Royal Greenwich, visited our school last week. Archie and Chloe did a brilliant job of meeting him and talking to him about life at Alderwood. Check out this great photo!

We started the week with odd socks! Yes, that's right, odd socks! Wearing odd socks made us all think about the importance of being different and accepting and understanding difference in everyone. We do this very well at Alderwood, but it is always good to stop and think again. This event supports the work that we're currently doing in our Monday assemblies where we have been thinking about what bullying looks like and what children can do if they see it or experience it themselves.

This week, our wonderful team have finalised our new displays. This term, children were immersed in different, high quality texts, such as 'That Pesky Rat', 'Wonder' and 'Ugg; Stone Age Boy'. The children then produced some fantastic writing and some beautiful artwork including 'small wonders' where Oak Class took a piece of pencil shaving to create a piece of artwork.

We finished the week by supporting the wonderful charity 'Children in Need'. This is difficult time for us all financially, so it is not about the amount we raised, but rather how much we learnt from the experience. Raising awareness and developing understanding is just as important as raising money!

Have a lovely weekend,

Mrs Cutajar
