Dear Parents/Carers,

What a purposeful and productive week we've had here in school.

Our wonderful Beech Class have continued to settle and are beginning to follow our expectations when moving around our school. Starting school is such a big change and we are only at the end of our second full week.

As you may know, we are focusing on Shakespeare's play, The Tempest for our whole school termly project. This is a great story involving magic and mayhem with lots of twists and turns. Look out for our new displays around half term!

This week, After School Clubs have started for children across our school. Ms Baker has listened to pupil voice about the frequency of clubs and types of activities, so watch this space for more information!

Reading remains a high priority here at school. We do so much to promote the love of reading and language acquisition, but we do need your support if you can. We encourage you to read with your child every night. We do understand that this might not be possible for everyone, but the routine of even looking at the pictures within a book is beneficial.

As you may remember, we are now receiving support from RBG's Attendance Advisory Service. Regular attendance is crucial for all children. Attending school every day means that children can access every piece of learning and build strong friendships and relationships with adults. You may see our Attendance Officer in school over the coming weeks.

Have a lovely weekend,

Mrs Cutajar
