Dear Parents/Carers,

The weeks fly by, here at Alderwood. Two weeks have already passed since the half-term break, and we are fully immersed in our learning journeys.

On Monday, Palm Class had an incredible time at the Planetarium in Greenwich, and arrived back to school with a wealth of information, and very keen to find out more about space!

What an incredible view, overlooking The Old Naval College

It was Anti-Bullying Week, and we had a special assembly on Wednesday, to discuss what bullying is, and how this can have a negative impact on others. We discussed the importance of showing kindness at Alderwood (Kindness is our value under the spotlight this term). Including others in games, smiling, passing compliments, saying thank you, and allowing someone to go ahead of you in the line, are just a few of the ways in which we can show kindness to each, we agreed.

A few children in Year 6 attended a Peer Mediation and Anti-Bullying event in Greenwich, on Wednesday too. The skills and knowledge gained was invaluable I am told, and we will be looking forward to seeing children successfully applying their new skills in the playground.

Next week, on Thursday, we have another coffee morning about 'Behaviour and Sleep'. This session will be led by Young Greenwich. Hopefully we will see you there for a 9.15am start.

Wishing you all a lovely weekend. Very best wishes,

Mr Guy
